FIXED AND MOBILE HIGH-SPEED BROADBAND JULY - AUGUST 2018

SFR, THE HIGH-SPEED BROADBAND LEADER, CONTINUES ITS ROLL-OUT THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AND LAUNCHES 4G+ OF UP TO 500 MBPS

- 97% of the population has 4G coverage with 567 new towns now covered, plus 803 towns get 4G+
- 11 new cities now covered by 4G+ of up to 300 Mbps
- SFR launches 4G+ of up to 500 Mbps in Lyon, Saint-Etienne and Marseille
- France's first fiber optical⁽¹⁾ infrastructure provider with 11.8 million eligible FTTx connections, in July and August SFR added 234,000 new fiber connections across 308 towns

97% of the population has 4G coverage with 567 new towns now covered, plus 803 towns get 4G+

In July and August 2018, SFR continued to expand its 4G/4G+ network and remains - according to the French National Frequencies Agency (ANFR)⁽²⁾ - the provider with the most working 4G antennas in France (33,365 antennas as at end of August).

With 97% of the population covered by 4G, in July and August SFR opened up 4G coverage to 567 additional towns, 540 of which have fewer than 3,500 inhabitants, and 4G+ to 803 towns.

For example, Menton (06), Annonay (07), Bonnieux (84) and Beaujeu (69) will now enjoy 4G coverage, while Besançon (25), Troyes (10) and Concarneau (29) will benefit from 4G+ (see lists below).

11 new cities now covered by 4G+ of up to 300 Mbps

SFR continues to invest in order to provide its customers with 4G+ of up to 300 Mbps, offering them a theoretical maximum speed three times greater than that offered by 4G. Already launched in more than 950 towns (with more than 2,000 inhabitants), this technology is now available in Tourcoing (59) and Le Rouret (06) (see lists below).

SFR launches 4G+ of up to 500 Mbps in Lyon, Saint-Etienne and Marseille

SFR was the first provider to launch 4G in France, and since 2017 it has introduced 4G+ of up to 300 Mbps into the country's 30 largest cities and has overcome today an ambitious new milestone.

After Bordeaux, there is now 4G+ of up to 500 Mbps available in the cities of Lyon, Saint-Etienne and Marseille. In total, more than 10 major cities are on schedule to receive it by the end of 2018. SFR customers with a 4G plan and a compatible device will therefore enjoy, at no extra cost, significantly faster speeds, with no limits to their online mobile usage.

4G+ of up to 500 Mbps is the next level up from standard 4G. Through aggregating four 4G frequency bands, 4G+ of up to 500 Mbps is able to provide a theoretical maximum speed of 593 Mbps, offering customers unparalleled ease and browsing speed while on the move.

By increasing 4G speeds in this way, SFR continues to provide its customers with the best possible service: while waiting for 5G to arrive in 2020, from 2019 SFR will be offering 4G speeds of up to 1Gbit/s.

France's first fiber optical⁽¹⁾ infrastructure provider with 11.8 million eligible FTTx connections, in July and August SFR added 234,000 new fiber connections across 308 towns

Specifically, in July and August, 234,000 homes and business premises were made connectable to fiber⁽¹⁾ in 308 towns. Of these, 232 were new to the world of fiber, such as Bondoufle (91), Breteuil (60), Escaudain (59), Nieul-sur-Mer (17), Provins (77), Saint-Brieuc (22), Saint-Orens-de-Gameville (31), Les Sorinières (44) and Tergnier (02), while 76 saw their coverage extended, such as Bayonne (64), Châlette-sur-Loing (45), Gradignan (33), La Ciotat (13) and Maubeuge (59) (see lists below).

Today, SFR's fiber services are available in more than 2,100 French towns.

As owner of France's first fiber infrastructure network (FTTH/FTTB), with 11.8 million available connections, SFR can confirm its leadership and will continue to drive the market with its sustained programme of deployment to bring fiber optical broadband into the heart of the country.

4G+ and 4G+ of up to 300 Mbps are offered at no extra cost to SFR customers with 4G subscriptions and compatible devices. For information about eligibility for FTTx, mobile coverage and details of the services offered, please visit sfr.fr.
